[2] Status of Residence

Table 2.

In principle, foreign researchers wishing to enter Japan are required to possess a valid passport issued by their home government and obtain a visa from a Japanese embassy or consulate overseas before coming to Japan.

The type of visa differs depending on the period of stay in Japan, whether or not you earn an income, and so on. For the appropriate type of a visa, please ask an official at the Japanese embassy/consulate where you are going to apply for a visa.

[3] Research Grants for Foreign Researchers

There are some research grants available for foreign researchers. For more information about research grants, please access the websites concerned or contact the foundation/organizations providing research grants.

(1) Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS)

[Postdoctoral Fellowship for Research in Japan]

This program was established to assist promising and highly qualified young foreign researchers wishing to conduct research in Japan. It is aimed at providing opportunities for such researchers to, under the guidance of their host professors, conduct cooperative research with researchers in universities and research institutes in Japan.

[Invitational Fellowships for Research in Japan]

This program is designed to enable Japanese researchers to invite their foreign colleagues to Japan to participate in cooperative work and other academic activities.

[JSPS Ronpaku Program (Dissertation Ph.D.)]

The aim of the JSPS RONPAKU (Dissertation Ph.D.) Program is to provide tutorial and financial support for promising researchers in countries in Asia and Africa who wish to obtain their Ph.D. degrees from Japanese universities through the submission of a dissertation without matriculating a doctoral course.

(2) Japan Science and Technology Agency (JST)

[Strategic International Collaborative Research Program]

This program is aiming at solving common international issues that cannot be solved in a single country and achieving research outcomes that contribute to strengthening Japan's science and technology capabilities through international collaboration.

For more information about the above programs or other programs, please access the websites below:

Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS): http://www.jsps.go.jp/english/index.html

[4] Accommodations

(1) International House

The International House is designed to provide not only housing for international students and researchers but also opportunities for promoting international exchange. The House consists of: single rooms (researchers: 8 rooms; students: 46 rooms), 26 rooms for married students, and 8 room for married researchers (2 couple's rooms, 4 family rooms). These are all private rooms. Each has a kitchen, bathroom, and toilet and is furnished with a desk, chair, bed, and bookshelf. Due to a shortage of rooms, rooms may not be available for all foreign researchers visiting our university.

Application for permission to reside in the International House should be made by a host faculty member, not by foreign researchers themselves. For information about availability and application, please contact the International Collaboration Section (098-895-8033).

(3) Accommodations Outside the Campus

On-campus accommodations for foreign researchers are limited, and it may be difficult to reserve a room on campus. If university accommodations are not available, you may need to stay outside of the campus, such as at a hotel or a private apartment.

In Japan, it is customary that a person who rents a room pays a deposit and "key" money to the owner in addition to the monthly room rent when a contract is made. The system of a deposit and key money may be difficult to understand for people from foreign countries, and they may have a difficult time understanding a contract and communicating with a real estate agent and/or an apartment owner. When you look for an apartment or make a contract, it is advised that you ask a Japanese national or someone who is familiar with Japanese housing for help.

[5] Procedures for Staying in Japan

(1) Residence Card

A residence card shall be issued to a foreign national who has stayed in Japan for a mid- to long term associated with residence permits, such as a landing permit, a permit for a change of the status of residence, and a permit for the extension of the period of stay.

For foreign nationals in Japan with a status of residence for longer than three months, residence cards will be issued.

At New Chitose (Hokkaido), Natira, Haneda, Chubu (Nagoya), Kansai (Osaka), Hiroshima and Fukuoka International Airports, mid- to long-term residents will obtain a landing permission on a passport and be issued a residence card.

For other ports of entry, a seal of landing verification will be stamped in a passport and a description "a residence card to be issued at a later date" will be made near the stamp. In this case, a residence card will be issued after a mid- to long-term resident follows the residency procedure at a municipal office of the city/town/village. Basically, a residence card will be mailed by the Regional Immigration Office to the reported place of residence.

① Notification of Place of Residence (including change of place)

- Address:

Those who have newly arrived in Japan and have been issued a residence card at the port of entry must bring their residence card within 14 days of deciding the place of residence and report the address at the municipal office of city/town/village of residence.

If your passport indicates that "a residence card to be issued at a later date", you have to bring your passport within 14 days of deciding the place of residence and report the address at the municipal office of city/town/village of residence.

In case that you have changed your place of residence, you have to bring your residence card to the municipal office of your new residence within 14 days of moving to the new residence and notify the new address.

- Change of Name, Date of Birth, Gender, Nationality/Region

In case you change your name, date of birth, gender, or nationality/region, or you change the organization of affiliation or the status of residence, be sure to notify Naha District Immigration Office within 14 days of the change.

- ② Application for re-issuance of a residence card
  - (In principle, a new residence card will be issued on the day of notification and application.)
- Residence card being lost or stolen:

You need to apply for reissuance of a residence card at Naha District Immigration Office within 14 days from the day when you notice the fact (or the day when you re-enter Japan in case you notice it outside of Japan). (Note) When applying for reissuance, instead of bringing your residence card, you need to bring a document such as a certificate of notification of lost item or stolen item issued by the police department, or a disaster victim certificate issued by the fire department.

- In case your residence card is severely damaged or defaced:

You need to apply for reissuance of a residence card at Naha District Immigration Office as soon as possible. If you wish to replace your residence card, you can apply for reissuance of a new residence card even if it is not severely damaged or defaced. In such a case, you are required to pay a handling fee for reissuance.

*Concerning the residency management system, please refer to the website of the Immigration Service Agency, Ministry of Justice.

(2) Permission to Engage in an Activity Other Than That Permitted Under the Status of Residence

Since you are staying in Japan as a foreign researcher and have the resident status of "Professor" or "Cultural Activities," you are expected to engage only in education and/or research activities. If you need to engage in any other activity other than that permitted under the status of residence previously granted and earn some income, you are required to obtain permission to do so from the Immigration Office in advance. (Although the number of working hours is not limited, please be careful not to interfere with your research. It should be mentioned that activities are limited to those not related to businesses such as bars and cabarets which may affect public morals.)

In some cases, for example, when a person with the status of "Professor" delivers a lecture at a symposium and receives an honorarium, permission from the Immigration Office may not be necessary. You are advised to contact Naha District Immigration Office before you engage in such activity. It should be noted that those with "temporary visitor" status cannot apply for permission to engage in an activity other than that permitted.

If you are going to engage in an activity and receive some income from any institution/association other than our university, you may need to obtain permission from our university in advance. Please consult with the Personnel Section (895-8023) before you engage in such activity.

(3) Extension of Period of Stay

The authorized period of your stay in Japan is indicated on your residence card which is counted from the date of the landing permission. If you desire to extend your stay in Japan, you must apply for and obtain permission to extend your period of stay. (If the permitted period for your status at our university expires, you also need to make an application for extension of your status as a foreign researcher through your host faculty member.)

When submitting an application for extension to the Immigration Office, a stamp "in the process of application" will be affixed to applicants' passports, which will allow them to stay even after the expiration date until an application for extension is approved.

For detailed information about application, including necessary documents, please contact the Naha District Immigration Office in advance.

(4) Re-entry Permit

Special Re-entry Permit

Foreign nationals in possession of a valid passport and residence card (*1) who will be reentering Japan within 1 year of their departure to continue their activities in Japan (*2) are, in principle, not be required to apply for a re-entry permit. This is called "Special Re-entry Permit". (See also "Re-entry Permit".)

When you leave Japan and fill in "Re-entry ED Card (Re-entry and Departure Record)", be sure to tick the column indicating your intention of departure with a Special Re-entry Permit and present your residence card to an immigration inspector.

Foreign nationals who have departed from Japan on a special re-entry permit will not be able to extend its validity period while abroad. Please note that such foreign nationals will lose their resident status if they fail to re-enter Japan within 1 year after their departure (*2).

(*1) If a person has a passport containing a statement indicating that the residence card shall be issued later, or has an alien registration certificate equivalent to a residence card are also eligible for a Special Re-entry Permit. (*2) If your period of stay expires within 1 year after your departure, please ensure that you re-enter Japan before the expiration of your period of stay.

Re-entry Permit

Foreign nationals who are not eligible for a Special Re-entry Permit, or those who will return to Japan after one year are required to obtain an ordinary Re-entry Permit.

(5) Changing of Status of Residence

If foreign nationals desire to cease their present activity and engage in a new activity that falls outside those permitted by their status of residence, they must obtain permission to change their status of residence. For instance, if a foreign researcher with the "cultural activities" status is hired as a professor at a university in Japan after completing his/her research activity at our university, that person has to obtain permission to change his/her status of residence to "professor." It should be mentioned, however, an application will not necessarily be approved.

For foreign nationals with the status of residence as "Short-term Stay (Temporary Visitor)", they are required to leave Japan and visit Japan again after obtaining an appropriate visa at a Japanese Embassy/Consulate overseas, except for unavoidable circumstances. It is possible to obtain the Certificate of Eligibility at the Immigration Office before leaving Japan. Although there are cases change of the status of residence can be permitted without leaving Japan, decisions are relied on examinations at each immigration office. If you need to change your status of residence, please contact Information Center of Naha District Immigration Office.

[6] Health

Because it is relatively warm and humid in Okinawa, people from foreign countries may have difficulty adjusting to the climate. Some may also have difficulty getting used to Japanese or Okinawan food and have a difficult time eating properly; others may become too busy with their research to live a regular life.

Researchers from overseas sometimes have health problems caused by stress in their academic or personal lives in Japan. Being in good health both physically and mentally is extremely essential for you to conduct research successfully; therefore, you need to take good care of your health.

For the purpose of maintaining your health, the following facilities and services are available:

1) Health Administration Center

Our university has a Health Administration Center, which aims to preserve and promote the health of students as well as of university faculty members and staff. Please feel free to visit the Center when you need simple medical treatment, medication, or first-aid treatment, or seek medical advice. The service provided there is free.

Health Administration Center (next to the Gymnasium): Mon. - Fri. 8:30  $\,\sim\,$  17:00 (Except 12:00  $\,\sim\,$  13:00) Phone: 098-895-8144

2) University Hospital

The University Hospital, located on the Uehara campus, has clinical departments in various fields for both inpatients and outpatients, as well as an emergency department.

The reception for outpatients is until 11:00AM, Monday through Friday. Consultation days are different depending on clinical departments. For detailed information, please contact the hospital.

*For those who visit the University Hospital for the first time, a referral letter (documents providing medical treatment information issued by another hospital) is necessary for most clinical departments. For new patients without a referral letter, extra charges (medical departments: 5,500 yen, dental: 3,300 yen) is required in addition to an initial fee.

Phone: 098-895-3331 Ext. 3297 (8:00 ~ 11:00) Mon.—Fri. 8:30 ~ 11:00 (For outpatients) Website (in Japanese): http://www.hosp.u-ryukyu.ac.jp/ [Internal Medicine I, Internal Medicine II, Internal Medicine III, Cardiovascular, Surgery I, Surgery II, Cardiovascular Surgery, Neurosurgery, Orthopedic Surgery, Plastic Surgery, Obstetrics/Gynecology, Pediatrics, Dermatology, Urology, Otorhinolaryngology, Ophthalmology, Neuropsychiatry, Radiology, Anesthesiology, Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery] [Schedule for Consultation days (in Japanese)] http://www.hosp.u-ryukyu.ac.jp/guideline/outpatient.html

For those who have never been to a hospital in Japan and those who do not understand Japanese well enough, it is recommended that you ask a Japanese to go to the hospital with you. If an ambulance is really necessary, please dial "119." (Please avoid improper use of ambulances.)

♦Hospitals Near the Campus

The following are some major hospitals outside of the campus. Consultation days and hours may differ according to clinical departments. Please call the hospital and make sure it is open before you go.

3) National Health Insurance

All foreign nationals who have been in Japan or plan to stay in Japan for longer than three months are obligated to join the National Health Insurance Program. You are required to pay an annual insurance fee when you join. By using the insurance, you will be charged 30% of the full medical expenses you incur.

You have to apply for the National Health Insurance Program at the municipal office of city/town/village of residence. (You need to show your Residence Card (or alien registration certificate equivalent to a residence card) for an application. An insurance fee will be charged later.) An insurance certificate is issued by your city/town/village office, and insurance fees vary according to the city/town/village. (For example, the annual insurance fee for 2018 for those without income in Nishihara town was 14,500 yen.)

According to the law, when you apply, you will be charged the insurance fee for the period of your residence in the city/town/village; this means it will be retroactive to the date on which you registered your address at the municipal office in the district when moving there (not from the date of application for the insurance). Even if you have not been to a hospital during the period you were not insured, you must pay the insurance fee. It should also be noted that even if you have been to a hospital and spent your own money during the uninsured period, the money that you paid will not be reimbursed after you join the program. Therefore, it is strongly advised that you join the National Health Insurance Program within 14 days after your arrival in Japan or moving to another city/town/village. (In some cities/towns/villages, residents can join the National Health Insurance only after completing residence registration. In that case, medical expenses paid by residents before joining the insurance can be reimbursed.)

All insurance certificates expire on March 31 every year, regardless of the date issued, so the insurance certificate has to be renewed by the end of March at the municipal office in your district that issued it. (Some cities/towns/villages send the new certificates to residents by mail. If you do not renew it, you cannot use the certificate on or after April 1.)

When you leave Japan or move to another city/town/village, please be sure to return your insurance certificate to the municipal office in your district at which it was issued. Otherwise, you will be charged the insurance fee even after you leave the district.

For more details, please contact the National Health Insurance Section of the municipal office of city/town/village of residence.

* In case for high-cost medical expenses for a sickness or injury

In case that medical expenses for hospital admission or visits exceed the certain amount, "high-cost medical expense support system" by the National Health Insurance can be applicable. The criterion amount for this system differs depending on income, family members and so on. A foreign resident without income is regarded as a family exempted from tax, and when medical expenses covered by him/herself exceeds 35,400 yen in one month, the amount exceeding the criteria will be reimbursed.

It should be noted that expenses for meals, advanced medical cares, additional charge for a bed, and so on will not be covered by the high-cost medical expense support system.

Concerning necessary procedures for this support, an insurance holder needs to pay 30% of the total medical expenses first at a hospital. Later s/he will receive an application form for "high-cost medical expense support system" at a municipal office of city/town/village of residence. After submitting an application form, s/he will receive reimbursement. In case that an insurance holder has some difficulty in paying 30% at a hospital by him/herself, it is possible to obtain an eligibility certificate for amount limit in advance at a city/town/village office. By using this certificate, the amount exceeding the criteria will be paid to the hospital directly by a city/town/village office, instead of making payment by an insurance holder and receiving reimbursement.

For details about "high-cost medical expense support system and eligibility certificate for amount limit, please contact the National Health Insurance Section at a city/town/village office of residence.

[7] Banks

In Japan, according to the law, it is not allowed for foreign nationals who stay in Japan for short-stay (90 days or less) and those with long-stay visa (90 days or longer) who have stayed for less than six months in Japan to open a bank account at ordinary banks. At Japan Post Bank (called "Yucho Bank"), foreign nationals who have stayed for less than six months are able to open a bank account.

If you open a bank account during your stay in Japan, please make sure to close your bank account before leaving Japan.

[8] Income Tax Convention

If foreign researchers earn any income (such as a salary, a bonus and an honorarium) in Japan, it is subject to income tax. If your home country and Japan have a tax treaty, however, you can apply for deduction from income tax in Japan.

The countries and regions that have concluded tax treaties with Japan are shown in the table 9. Since tax treaties may differ in content depending on the partner country, please contact North Naha (Kita-Naha) Taxation Office before applying.

It may be better not to apply a tax treaty depending on a tax rate in a home country. Please notify your host faculty member whether you would like to apply for tax deduction or not.

For researchers from U.S., U.K., France, Australia, Dutch, Switzerland, New Zealand, Sweden, Germany, it is required to submit "Attachment Form for Limitation on Benefits Article" and "Residency Certification". The Residency Certification has to be obtained by researchers themselves. Since it sometimes takes 2-3 months until the certification is issued, please keep in mind when applying for tax deduction.

※ For countries that have concluded tax treaties, please check the latest information on the Ministry of Finance website below (in English).

- Tax convention (a convention principally for the elimination of double taxation and the prevention of tax evasion and avoidance); 63 conventions applicable to 77 jurisdictions.
- Tax information exchange agreement (a convention principally for the exchange of information regarding tax matters); 11 conventions applicable to 11 jurisdictions (These jurisdictions are marked with (*) above).

Private-sector tax arrangement with Taiwan; 1 jurisdiction

(Note 3) As for Taiwan, a framework equivalent to a tax convention is established in combination of (1) a private-sector tax arrangement between Japan-Taiwan Exchange Association (Japan) and Taiwan-Japan Relation Association (Taiwan) and (2) Japanese domestic legislation to implement the provisions of the private-sector tax arrangement in Japan.

[9] Security Export Control System

In many countries including Japan, security export control are performed to prevent the conversion to weapons of mass destruction and conventional arms by the unprepared outflow to the foreign countries such as important advanced technology information in the country and the leak.

Security control in Japan is prescribed strictly by the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Control Act. In this act, when a person exports goods or provides the technique related to international security without acquiring the permission of the Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry, criminal penalty and administrative penalty will be imposed.

When a foreign researcher makes a research plan in Japan, please confirm the lists of countries/areas, subject institutions, goods, information and techniques to become a target by all means.

%For detailed information about the Security Export Control System, please refer to the website of the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry:
